

kidney diagram

The kidney helps filter waste products from blood. When entering the artery, the blood has glucose, salt ions, urea, plasma and blood cells, and more water + oxygen. After exiting and traveling into the renal vein, blood is filtered & remains with slightly less of the same stuff as before.

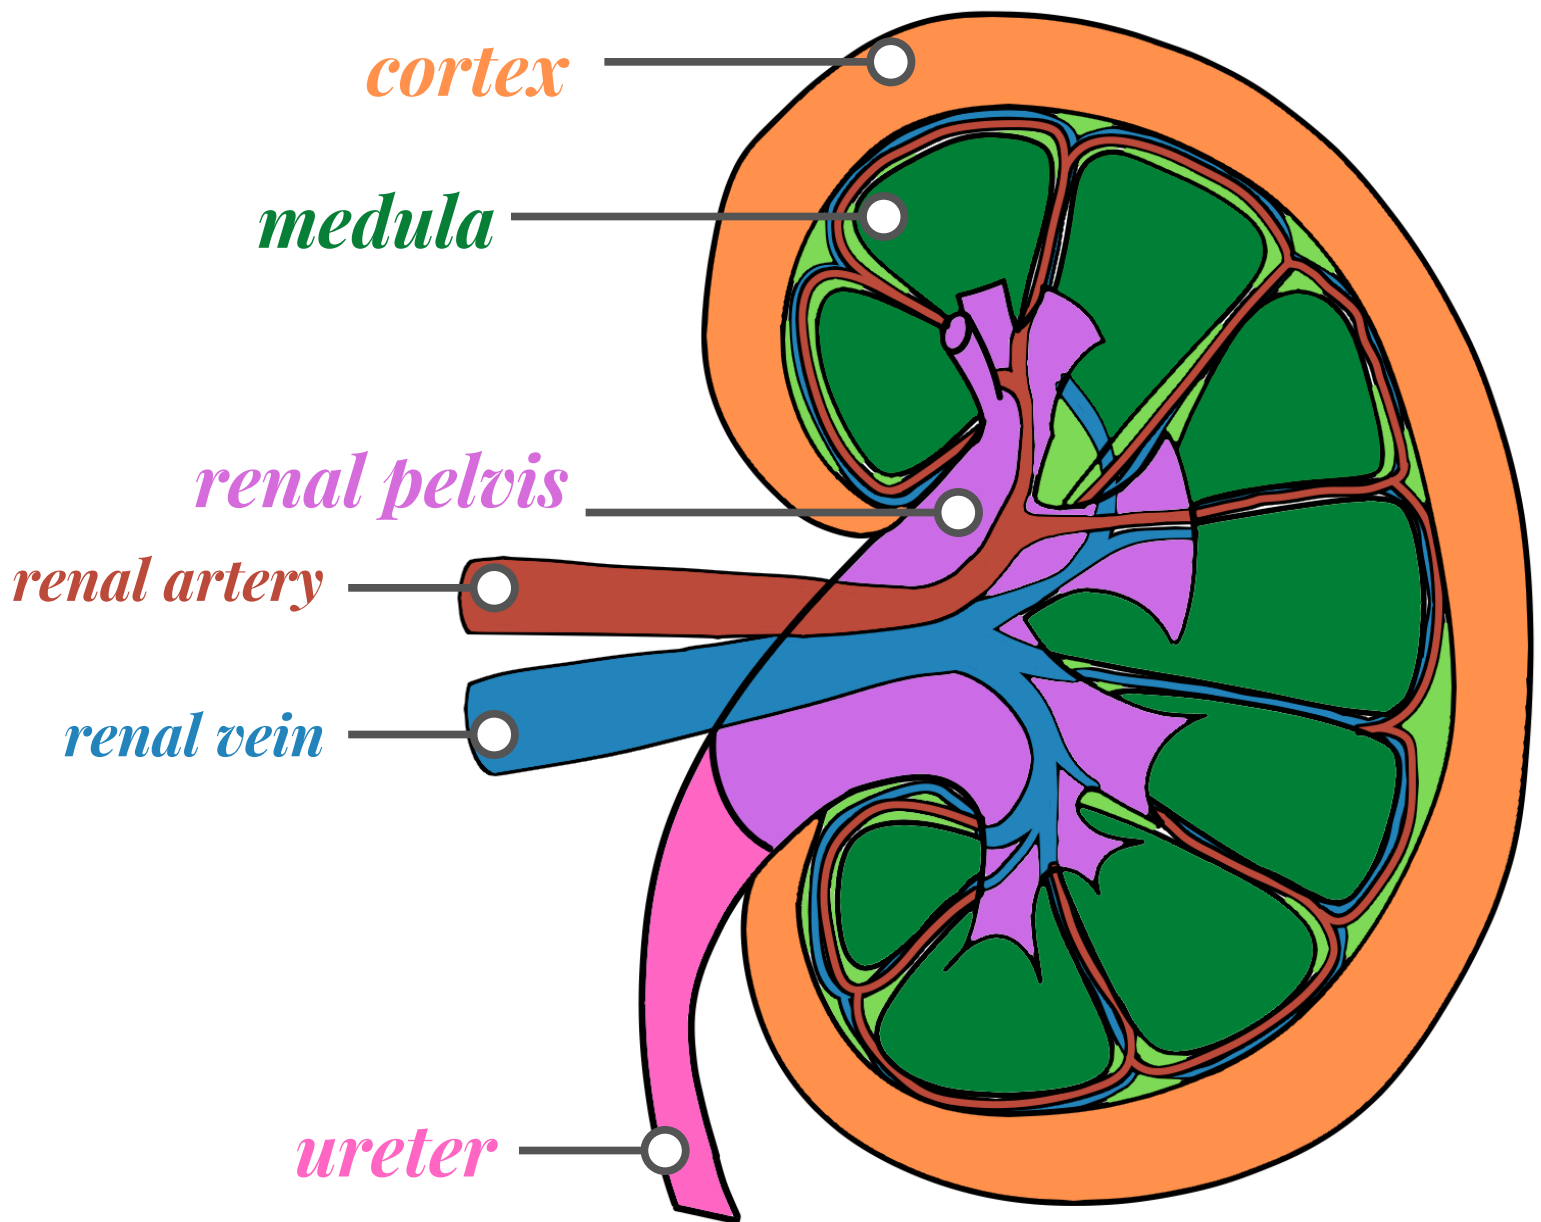

diagram not to scale nor in proper proportion to one another